

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates. The cable ownership cap is a crucial element of our democratic media, and it should not be weakened.

If the intelligent public is to have any trust or interest whatsoever in media, diversity of view points in reporting is critical. Not to mention that generic news is hardly helpful to most communities. Obviously, your idea is to simply make money. Have a little more dignity.